Support, complaints, and feedback

Packt is committed to making Packt Video courses a valuable, useful way for IT professionals to learn new skills. We have made every effort to ensure that this course reaches the required standard and will work on your devices.

If any aspect of the course does not meet your expectations, please contact us and we will do everything we can to help.

How to complain or get help

If this video course doesn't give you what you were expecting, either because of functionality problems or because the content isn't up to scratch, please mail videosupport@packtpub.com with details of the problem. We appreciate the feedback, and will assist you with any technical issues. If the experience isn't up to the standards you expect we'll happily refund your money.

If you have comments or feedback

We welcome any feedback you might have on this course. It will help us to make the Packt Video experience for all our customers as good as it can possibly be. Please mail feedback@packtpub.com with your feedback, and be sure to mention the title of the video course you are mailing about.
